

capital WOMEN

in PHILANTHROPY

Nearly 15 years ago, a group of talented and vested women joined together to support and promote Capital Health's services and programs with a specific interest in improving the health and well-being of the populations we serve in urban and suburban communities. This founding group established Capital Women in Philanthropy (CWP). In its inaugural year, CWP granted $43,000 supporting seven worthy funding proposals.

Today, Capital Women in Philanthropy proudly welcomes over 100 members who represent friends from far and near, as well as Capital Health physicians, nurses and allied healthcare professionals and employees. Over $750,000 in pooled philanthropic support has been directed to CWP's Annual Grants program seeding new and existing programs and services.

All CWP gifts of support have a significant impact on Capital Health's role as the region's provider of choice delivering exceptional, innovative, and compassionate care.
